APPENDIX C: LONDON CAMPUS MINISTRY COMMITTEE VISION STATEMENT

Campus Ministry Committee (Classis Chatham)

Vision Statement

The earth is the Lord's and all that is in it, the world and those who live in it. Ps.24:1

Vision

Jesus Christ is Lord of the college and university campuses in southwestern Ontario and desires to be reconciled with all people and things there, so that the whole creation may praise Him as Lord.

A. Purpose of London Campus Ministry

To play a part in carrying out the mission of the Christian Reformed Church in the University of Western Ontario and Fanshawe College, in co-operation with Classis Chatham's CRC congregations and other Christian bodies by:

1) Intellectual Engagement

Declaring the Good News that Jesus Christ, the crucified, risen and ascended one, is Lord, inviting all to come to Him and become disciples supported by the Spirit and reconciling all things to God.

2) Community Building:

Working in their academic and creative pursuits, students, staff and faculty, who are disciples, are encouraged in their growth in the Faith, their involvement in sharing the Gospel, and the development of Christ-centered leadership in and beyond the Christian community.

3) Pastoral Care:

Engaging students, staff and faculty in discussions in order to assist them in developing their understanding of themselves and the world in the light of Christ's Lordship.

4) Cultural Relevance:

Loving and helping all academic neighbours, recognizing that words need deeds and deeds need to be explained, encouraging all to celebrate God's creative and renewing grace in the face of the prevailing cultures.

B. Program & Strategy

The Campus Ministry Committee will employ campus ministers to lead in carrying out its purpose. Because the Campus Ministry Committee sees sharing the life of Christ on the campus as an opportunity for students to grow in faithful living, thinking, and leading, much attention will be paid to developing communities of Christian students and their non-Christian friends; in this work the Campus Ministry Committee has a special responsibility to CRC students. Since the CRC, among Christian bodies, has a tradition of intellectual endeavour, this is to be shared in the universities and colleges. Encouraging disciples and would-be disciples always means engaging in communal worship of God. Ways will be found for university and college disciples to worship together with other Christians and from time to time on the campuses.

C. Committee Functions:

The Campus Ministry Committee, in consultation and cooperation with the Church-Councils, the CMC and Christian Reformed Home Missions, shall:

- 1) Give immediate help, guidance, and prayerful support to the Campus Ministers, and encourage them in their ministry and in their continued education and spiritual growth.

- 2) Provide guidance and supervision to the campus ministries by assisting the Campus Ministers in setting annual goals and objectives, and preparing quarterly and annual progress reports.
- 3) Advise and assist in preparing quarterly financial reports and in giving an annual financial accounting and setting a budget for the ministries. An annual recommendation for a classical ministry-share shall be made to the CFC and CMC in time to be included in the agenda for the September meeting of Classis
- 4) Meet monthly during the academic season, and at the request of the chairperson or the Campus Ministers.
- 5) Provide assistance in ministry reviews and personnel assessments.
- 6) Approve the Campus Ministers' absence from the field.
- 7) Function as a search committee to seek a new Campus Minister to the ministry in consultation with Christian Reformed Home Missions, subject to directions from classis through the CMC.
- 8) Maintain a good public relationship with the sponsoring constituency of Classis Chatham.

D: Accountability:

Consistent with the concept of joint supervision, the Campus Ministry Committee is accountable to Classis Chatham through the CMC, to the local Councils through their appointed representatives, and to Christian Reformed Home Missions through the Home Mission Regional Director.

The Campus Ministers are responsible to the calling church for matters of Doctrine and Life, to God who called them, to the denomination they serve, and to the Christian Reformed Campus Ministry Committee that oversees their work.

E. Job Description (Campus Minister)

The aim of the Campus Ministry is to connect with the campus community and bear witness to the Lordship of Jesus Christ. In an aggressively secular and academic context, Campus Ministry seeks to build a strong Christian community of people who seek to serve Jesus in all of their lives. The campus minister serves as a team builder, resource person, pastor and teacher for the fostering of such community. Exemplifying a life of faith and obedience to Christ, the campus minister will seek to engage members of the university community, unchurched and churchied, and especially members of the Christian Reformed Church, in Christ's mission to the world, specifically the university and college world.

The four themes of ministry as expressed in the vision statement cannot be divided into four clear, measurable activities. Rather, the four themes (community building, pastoral care, intellectual engagement, cultural relevance) should pervade all the activities of ministry. The campus minister is called, therefore, to implement the vision statement through the following programs:

1. Relational Engagement (this area will account for 2/3 to 3/4 of working time)

- a. Following the living Christ, invite all persons to join in a Christian community, and work to build up that community by calling people to contribute their gifts to Christ's mission; help others recognize their gifts; develop leadership skills in the community; and help foster an environment in which all are welcome and accepted.
- b. Seek out, through various means, students, faculty and staff who are members of the Christian Reformed Church.
- c. Promote and encourage student social activities in order to build relationships of trust and support.

- d. Encourage and promote students to participate in the local church, particularly the CRC, and notably where ministries are underway for the university/college demography.
- e. Facilitate opportunities for worship on campus with other Christian groups.
- f. Facilitate the development of students' faith through organized group bible study, including discussion of the content and contemporary implications of a Reformed worldview; direct this education to whole-life discipleship; and take seriously the academic context of the ministry. Helping students to relate their faith creatively to their studies is central to this ministry.
- g. Seek out contact with students who may be attending university or college in the near future (i.e. visit high schools, etc.)
- h. Be conspicuously available on campus to students for pastoral care and for those who wish to talk with a campus minister about personal concerns, or Christian faith.

2. Academic Engagement

- a. Assist as an active participant or resource person with the setting up of conferences (e.g., Veritas Forum), workshops, and lectures with ad hoc and existing Christian groups (such as Inter Varsity Christian Fellowship).
- b. Be available for teaching from a Reformed Christian perspective in formal and informal settings.
- c. Write articles to encourage discussion in the college and university community.

3. Program Support (the three areas will account for 1/4 to 1/3 of working time)

Administrative

- a. Meet regularly with the Campus Ministry Committee to report on programs and interactions, and keep the committee informed about what is happening on campus.
- b. Periodically assess and evaluate existing ministries as well as plan for new opportunities for ministry.

Promotion (formerly public relations)

- a. Preach and/or lead in worship in the supporting CRCs (Classis Chatham) and report on and promote the campus ministry.
- b. Lead by example through active participation in a local CRC worshiping community.
- c. Maintain fellowship with other chaplains and other Christian ministries on campus.

Professional Development

- a. Engage in professional development (reading, conferences, courses, etc), and communicate such to the committee.
- b. Be an active member in the Christian Reformed Campus Ministry Association. As appropriate, be involved in other CRC ministries at the local, classical and denominational levels.
- c. Publish articles when and where appropriate.
